Alumni Profile

From DKE to the NFL: A Profile of Jeb Terry '03

Editor's Note: As we went to press, Jeb was chosen by Tampa Bay, round 5, pick 14, overall pick 146, as offensive guard. Congratulations Jeb!

It's a childhood dream for so many boys — playing in the National Football League. But for Jeb Terry '03, former offensive guard for the North Carolina football team, it should become reality during the NFL draft, held April 24-25. Terry's got his own contingent of fans in the Delta Kappa Epsilon house.

"I know I will stay in touch with guys from the fraternity," he says. "They have all been real interested in my career and really supportive of it."

That Terry counts his DKE brothers as close friends and a source of support demonstrates that he got from the fraternity what he was looking for when he joined.

"I wanted to get to know some people outside of football," he says. "It's a totally different atmosphere from the football crowd, and I think it helped to balance me out over my career."

And what a career it was. Terry was elected a co-captain in his senior year and was named second team All-ACC. He counts beating Florida State at home, beating Auburn in the Peach Bowl and the loss to Texas at home in a night game among his best football memories. But he has fond memories of the fraternity as well.

"My favorite memories would have to be all of the Halloween parties," he says. "We always threw a big Halloween party and those are some of my fondest memories." Terry declined to elaborate on some of the costumes that would appear at these events. Maybe some things are best left a secret. ...

What is no secret is Terry's ambition to succeed, in the NFL and beyond. Terry graduated in December 2003 with a degree in business, but looks to NFL football as his first career stop. He hopes to be chosen on the first day of the draft and is confident he will get drafted. However, when or by whom is up in the air.

"I'd love to come back home and play for Dallas," he says. "I've had a bunch of individual workouts (for NFL teams), but right now it's up in the air. I'll just have to wait until draft day." Though Terry will have to wait, it seems a consensus that someone will pick him up. NFLDraftBlitz.com rates him among the top 10 offensive guard prospects, and he was named "the best pass protecting offensive guard in the country" by USA Today's Sports Weekly.

In preparation for draft day, Terry has been training hard. He worked out twice a day while training in Louisiana during January and February, including one and a half hours of running in the morning and two hours of lifting in the afternoon. He played in the Senior Bowl, an all-star game in Mobile, Ala., and then worked out at the NFL combines in Indianapolis and at a pro-day in Chapel Hill, N.C. Scouts have contacted his agent to schedule individual workouts as well.

"It's pretty fun, and I am very excited about the draft," he says.

Once his playing days are done, Terry is considering a return to graduate school for an MBA.

“ [DKE was] a totally different atmosphere from the football crowd, and I think it helped to balance me out over my career.”

President's Letter

UNC Creates 'Challenging' Environment for Greeks

Two words describe life for the Deke House in Chapel Hill, N.C: challenging environment.

All fraternities are being challenged by the UNC Board of Trustees to wipe out all forms of hazing and what two of the most vocal trustees call "personal servitude." The board threatened that it would push rush back to the winter semester, something we alumni and the IFC opposed strongly. We won that battle but created, in return, a much tougher code of conduct for pledge training. No form of hazing will be tolerated at the DKE House.

As well, fraternities are being challenged by a much more enforcement-minded Chapel Hill fire department. The total number of fire code violations across the fraternity system is down from last fall, but there still are too many houses in violation, including DKE. Working closely with Beta officers and our fire marshal, Jimmy Glenn, we have corrected them all.

In the past year, the number of honor code charges from the student attorney general has risen, and DKE has gotten its fair share. So far each and every significant one has been dismissed.

And, finally, we as a Beta DKE Inc. board are challenging the brothers continually to raise standards for house upkeep, scholarship and extracurricular activities that range from philanthropic fund-raising to old-fashioned band parties.

The good news is that Beta Deke is answering the bell, rising to meet these challenges. We need increased alumni support to help with that, and I am confident we'll answer that bell as well.

In the Bond,
Jim Gray '70, President, Beta DKE Inc. ■

DKE Hosts Third Annual Career Night

The Third Annual DKE Career Night was held Jan. 23 at the Friday Center. One new twist was employed this year as juniors were invited to attend as well as seniors from the active chapter. This event is an annual event with the sole purpose of imparting career knowledge upon the upperclassmen of the active chapter. Our goal in providing this event is to show the students that they need to be vigilant in their pursuit of a job upon graduation, and they need to be as prepared as possible for their entrance into the work environment. Speakers for the event included:

Vicki Lotz, associate director of Undergraduate Career Services

McCarley Davis '98, Wachovia
Chris McCoy '94, Kennedy Covington
Joe Pitt '92, Carousel Capital
Justin Stone '96, NorthMarq Capital Inc.
Brooke Williams '68, Marsh & McClennan

Students in attendance enjoyed the panelists' remarks as well as the connections that they made with being alumni and what it will mean for the remainder of their professional lives. We will continue to hold this event for the upperclassmen each year, and if anyone is interested in participating as a panelist for next year's event, please contact Chris Harris at (919) 962-5458 or charris@unc.edu. ■

Alumni Profile

"But right now, I don't know," he says. "My dad is a financial adviser and money manager, and that interests me a bit, but I also like commercial real estate. I have a lot of options."

Terry's dad uses his career skills to analyze his son's NFL prospects.

"Dad is really excited too," Terry says. "He throws his money-managing skills into it all and comes up with some pretty interesting stuff. He compares me to the other talent in the draft and comes up with scatter plot diagrams and other stuff. It's pretty funny."

Terry's mom and two sisters are also excited for him and his future, though for now his mom is happy just to have him home in Dallas again. After attending military school and UNC, where football kept him at school during the summers, having Terry home again for an extended period has been a treat.

By the end of April, Terry should know where his immediate future lies. Being drafted by an NFL team will be the fulfillment of one goal and the start of some new ones.

"My goals are to make an NFL team, to start and to win," he says. "Our records at Carolina were not always as great as we would have liked, so winning is important to me now."

Terry's DKE brothers will watch with interest to see which team nabs him and will cheer for his success. ■

Events Keep Brothers Busy at the House

It has been a busy spring over at the DKE House. With the university coming down hard on the perceived image of the Greek system, the DKEs have stepped up to the challenge by increasing our philanthropic involvement in the Chapel Hill community. After the fall's extremely successful Spaghetti Dinner, we have taken on two new projects under the leadership of Philanthropy Chair Hunter Powell.

On the first Friday in April we participated in the Relay for Life. Now, as we head into the Easter weekend, we are hosting, along with Chi Omega, the first Annual Easter 5K supporting Habitat for Humanity. Hunter has done a great job at getting all of us involved, and we hope this is a tradition that will remain at the DKE House.

We recently had another successful Spring Alumni Weekend. High School seniors from Charlotte, High Point, Winston-Salem, Richmond, and Washington, D.C., came to visit the DKE House and watch the Blue-White Game. The future Tar Heels had a great time over the weekend and the DKE Inc. Board provided a great lunch on Saturday.

Alumni UpDates

David L. Ward '57

(1001 College Ct., New Bern, NC 28562; dlw@wardandsmith.com) I was selected by Business North Carolina as the leading general counsel for its 2004 list. I am the senior member of Ward and Smith PA, a 60-attorney firm with offices in New Bern, Greenville, Raleigh and Wilmington, N.C.

E. Vernon F. Glenn '72

(206 Live Oak Drive, Mt. Pleasant, SC 29464-4332; evfg@comcast.net) John and I had a rendezvous in Asheville, N.C., over the MLK weekend. We celebrated the Christ School victory over Asheville School with our sons. Douglas is in his first year at Christ School and loving it. John graduated from CS in '67 and was recently inducted into its sports hall of fame for his gymnastics and ping-pong abilities. It appears that son Rob will follow in his father's footsteps and attend next fall — assuming that John's discipline records don't come back to haunt him. What goes around, comes around!

Joseph C. Frierson '92

(190 University Drive, Athens, GA 30605-1556; jcf3rd@bellsouth.net) Lisa and I are doing great. Our kids are maniacs but also a blast. I just spent a great weekend with Frank Edwards '92 and his wife, Catherine, in Charlotte, N.C. Rick Hopkins '91 and I are godparents for their new boy, Turner (hopefully of the 2021 class). I also just helped Chris Mumford '92 move from Chattanooga, Tenn., back to his hometown of Richmond, N.C. Chris and Nicole are doing fabulous. Nicole has landed a modeling contract with a very prominent fashion label, which makes Chris very happy. Chris has given up his alpaca farms to recommit himself to cooking, his true love. Chris has opened Mumfs, a neo-Californian bistro in Richmond's Shocko-Slip area. Try the prune-glazed duck over arugula if you are in the area. It is fabulous.

Dillon Rose '96

(1521 Lafayette Avenue, Rocky Mount, NC 27803-1820) Lucy and I happily announce the birth of our daughter, Walker Blount Rose, born Dec. 17, 2003.

Brian K. Kelsey '00

(365 Winding River Circle #202, Memphis, TN 38120; kelsey@elvis.com) Having worked in the White House and for Senator Bill Frist, the time has come for me to throw my own hat in the ring for public service, and that's exactly what I'm doing at home here in Memphis, Tenn. I'm running in the Aug. 5 Republican primary for state representative and would really appreciate the support of my DKE brothers — even my one Democratic pledge brother. Please contact me through my Web site, VoteKelsey.com. ■

Reunion

Class of 1980 to Reunite, Watch Tar Heels Tackle Miami

The class of 1980 will be holding its 25th reunion the weekend of Oct. 29, 2004, in Chapel Hill, N.C. Co-organizers Andy Spencer and Albert Butler are hoping to see all their pledge brothers at the DKE House for a weekend to catch up and share stories from some great times at the best house at the best university.

Thanks to Berny Gray '72, there a large number of tickets for the Saturday football game against the University of Miami, a new ACC member. Andy and Albert are still putting together the final details, but they promise it will be a great time. If you are planning on attending, please e-mail Andy at aspencer@lovet.org or Albert at albert.butler@wachovia.com. They can offer hotel suggestions and other information. ■
